Editor-In-Chief - JOSEPH G. MURPHY

Business Manager - LESTER L. GENTRY

To you, the student,

Night has left us standing here looking to a future and away from a past all in syncopated time. And yet we find ourselves in search of some lost chord. It is our essence we have lost. While we slept the cornerstone was crushed.

We address this letter to you, the student, because there is no greater single body on this campus more directly affected by the sudden and certain changes that have been made here than you.

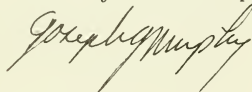

In the past four years, the student who now leaves West Chester has been forced to witness the most extensive construction and population growth ever in so short a span.

Through pin-prick holes in a colorless sky, does our silent spirit slip by unnoticed, unaccounted for, unremembered? In one small space in time between the centuries we now celebrate, what walls recall our beginning? What heritage is there? What thief has counted out his silver in selling off our birthright?

This book is dedicated to that birthright somehow lost in the transiency of expedience, that past crumbled in a swift "accidental" turning of a crane. It was in this night that days of past and Old Main, were sold for days of future and new buildings. Voices of infinity wept in their empty halls and were soon gone. Good, wretched, yet all immortal souls of a century past perished with the serpentine stone.

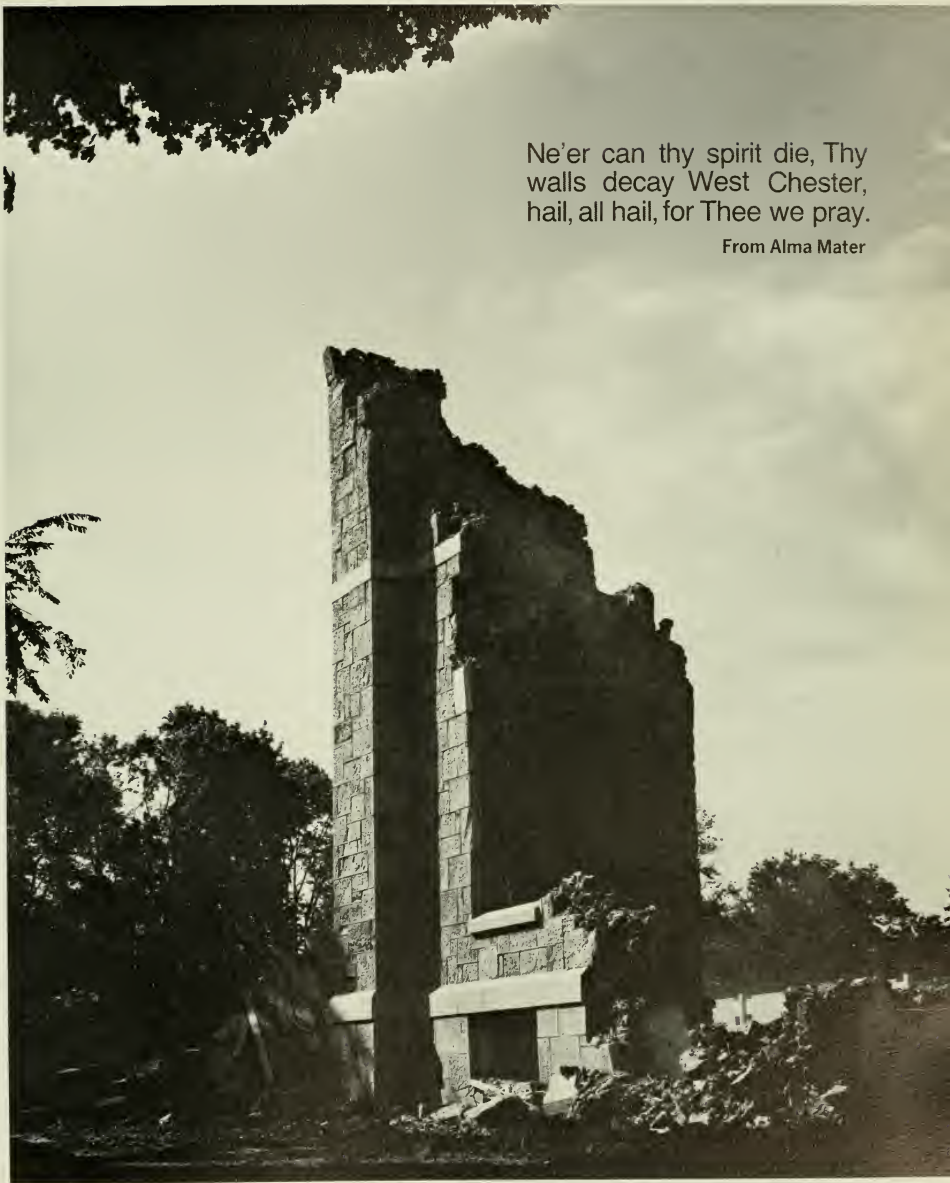

As a staff we questioned the title of our book, as students we question the validity of this action. At the dawn of the second century, the first is beveled in the fashioning of another state megaversity. In fashioning the future, minds must think on the past. Hopefully, this institution has produced enough minds to insure a place in history for Westchestria and its walls and stones will not become just a passing thought forgotten as are dead.

This book comes at the end of a long cold night. It is this day that we celebrate. No better appropriate time is there than now for a song, a laugh, a chance to think. So we give this day to you. It will pass from cover to cover. It is a day of future past.

Ne'er can thy spirit die, Thy walls decay West Chester, hail, all hail, for Thee we pray.

From Alma Mater

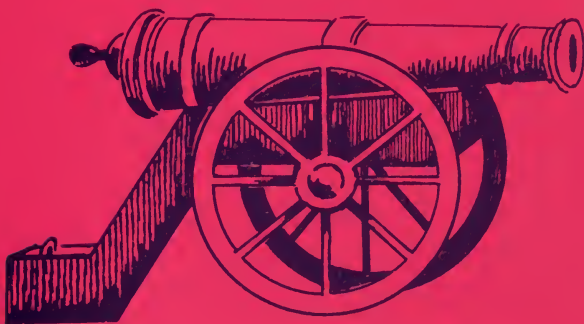

EDITOR'S PAGE

It is strange to look at the collected end to dreams and know that as all things must pass so does this once so uncertain yearbook. And yet it does not speak for great dreams nor cement fulfillment. It speaks odes to wanting eyes and laughter to ears within. Know not what works it was meant to fill, know only what works we did and that they are done. Know only from these moments what we touched. Here where past and future clash to be our present, do not look for a bible of our dreams but only for a frail design of days of future past. Let not our minds immortalize this magic named Westchestria, nor think but on what once it was or what in future it must be. For it is only brick between this mortar and cement and means to me no more than the pleasure and the laugh that carried from inside myself and on bricks and mortar spent. May it leave you in your idle hour left to your idle taste and not keep you to the sunsets you have seen or to this sacred place. For I am dreaming in my hour of sunsets yet to see and I am leaving in my tower this little part of me. And those of all my friends who've shared my walls atop George Phillips grave, give to the present this piece of self, this ripe for aging page. And as the future is the past and a century of Westchestria hence, look on collected ends to dreams and mingle with us time and tense, and laugh at our beginning.

As some of you may know, this is West Chester's Centennial year ● One hundred years of existence. Anything that hangs around that long surely must have a lengthy, if not interesting, heritage ● To capsulize such a history is harder than capsulizing six hundred tiny time pills ● If you want to play West Chester trivia, buy Dr. Sturzebecker's book. It's quite good, humorous, interesting, and tediously detailed ● But the 1972 Serpentine cannot go into such a treatment of every year. All we can do is cover 1972 and show you a few old pictures that say, "This is West Chester when it was six years old." But because you are so nice, and because our business manager says we can afford it, and because my Editor-in-Chief made me do it, the 1972 Serpentine proudly presents "Highlights of our Heritage." This supplement records events of major significance in the growth of this university. I mean, college ● So, unless you kept a diary, this will help you remember when . . .

*“From where it was... to
it’s at”*

“These boys here are pretty good fellas. We’ve had a few bad ones over the years but not too many.” The words and face of Mrs. Roland McClintock who with her husband has been running a men’s off campus home for almost as long as she can remember.

- 1958—Slater is here! The new mascot is Prince Ramses I. When not at the games, he is kept on a farm near Downingtown with his 26 wives. No wonder he always looks so tired. On the funny side, West Chester was removed from the AAUP censured list after nineteen years, an all-time record.
- 1960—In April, State Troopers rushed to the site of Old Main to quell a potentially dangerous panty raid.
- 1963—Dr. Earl Sykes was inaugurated President of the college. The Quad carried an editorial concerning the assassination of John F. Kennedy. Lyndon B. Johnson became President.
- 1964—Lyndon B. Johnson became Chairman of the Board of the Southeast Asia Escalator Company. Dr. Sykes literally destroyed the State’s practice of favoring private colleges over the State-owned schools. His research finally caused Governor Scranton to admit that the State colleges have been neglected. “Help was on the way.” Also in 1964, the infamous Cap Crew blossomed into the most beloved and adored group since the Mongol Horde.
- 1965—WCSC broadcasts from campus. A movement begins to reexamine student rights. The “Masked Phantom” circles one of the girls’ dormitories in his birthday suit. The game’s object was for the girls to guess who it was. U.S. troops invaded the Dominican Republic.
- 1966—Five new buildings were dedicated: Lawrence, Schmucker, the Library, Tyson and Goshen. Students demanded rights as the cut system and the dress code thing popped up. Christian Sanderson’s will stated that the Andrew Wyeth portrait of Mr. Sanderson would be given to the college if the front of Old Main wasn’t torn down. Anybody seen that picture?
- 1967—Greeks and Freaks emerged on campus. We began to look like something other than a high school with ash trays.
- 1969—The controversy over the selection of a new President woke everyone up at West Chester. Men’s Resident Government attacked the Administration, and the IRISH wanted the Alma Mater changed to “When Irish Eyes are Smiling.”
- 1970—The “Board-Rossey-IGA-D’Antonio-Owens” controversy . . . The SDS meeting in Lawrence . . . Moratorium Day . . . The Kay chaos . . . Marching Band plays at the AFL Championship game . . . Forty State Troopers at Phillips . . . Interdorm visitation, officially, that is . . . Dr. Killinger retires . . .
- 1971—March on Harrisburg . . . Bill Holland finally gets his senior portrait printed in Dr. Sturzebecker’s book . . . Carla Craig elected Rampage Queen . . . The Free University . . . Mitchell Hall opened . . . Qlod Mangles . . . South Campus Complex . . . Wayne and Schmidt Halls . . .
- 1972—Happy Birthday, West Chester State, but, why did they blow out your candles? Is it possible to light them again? As Dr. Sturzebecker aptly states—“The West Chester Normal School Centennial story started with a cannon, and appropriately, on the threshold of a second hundred years, a new cannon comes on the scene.”

Remember the Main!

THE YEAR

OF THE CELEBRATION

*You look around you, Things they astound you. So breathe in deep, you're not asleep, open your mind.
You're here today, No future fears. This Day will last a thousand years.
If you want it to.*

1971

1971

*It's time to move, man.
Freedom: My mind recalls the Shackles of the night
Freedom: My heart recalls tears
In fear of what
Move man
Play this metaphor piano
And the whole orchestra succels.
It's time to move
I want to move but am I sure
I wait and hope to find the now lost chord.*

1972

*Blue bird flying high
Tell me what you see
If you could talk to me
What news would you bring
Of voices in the sky*

*Distance is gone
Will we find out
Speeding through the universe*

*Thinking is the only way to travel
And you can fly high as a kite if you want to
To reach the chord is important
To some
So they give it a name
The earth turns slowly round
Can you hear what they say?
Heaven?*

*Old man passing by
Tell me what you say
Though your voice be faint
I am listening*

*Children skipping rope
Tell me what you say
Playbell about to ring
I am listening
The whole orchestra swells
And faintly the piano
Starts to play*

*"Speeding through the universe
Thinking is the only way to
"Speeding through the universe
Thinking is the only way to Travel"*

*Dawn is the feeling, a beautiful ceiling,
The smell of grass just makes you pass into
A dream.*

*You understand that all over the land
There's a feeling
In minds far and near Things are becoming clear with a meaning.*

*You're here today, No future fears
This day will last a thousand years
If you want it to.*

*Now that you're knowing,
Pleasure starts flowing.
It's true life flies
Faster than eyes could ever see.*

*Dawn is the feeling, a beautiful ceiling,
The smell of grass just makes you pass into
A dream.*

*You're here today, No future fears
This day will last a thousand years
If you want it to.*

Women's Commuter Government

Student governments are very important. They have meetings. They make decisions. They govern the students. They represent the students. Where do they get their power from? From the Students! Where did you expect them to get it from—Cheerios?

TV

RADIO

The college television station has tremendous possibilities for all students. It's unfortunate that it is used almost exclusively by the Biology Department to test our knowledge on the parts of the fetal pig.

The WCUR Radio Station is of some vital interest to some. They're somewhere on your AM dial. No—it's on the FM band. It's still 640 . . . isn't it?

The West Chester radio station is a combination of good sounds, informative information, bad commercials, and in a generous way, "disc-jockies."

CENTENNIAL RAMPAGE

Okay, kiddies, another Rampage Weekend and it was a real biggie. There was the annual slaughter at Farrell Stadium, the annual rainy-night concert, and the semi-annual outdoor concert attempt.

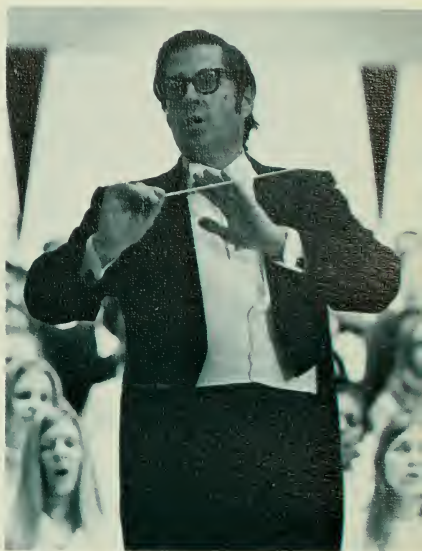

Seriously, there was the Doc Severinson show, which was quite good, the very funny Ace Trucking Co., Queen Beth Kindregan, Dynamite Chicken, and all the rock groups who left the policeman out in the cold.

ONLY THE SHADOW KNOWS

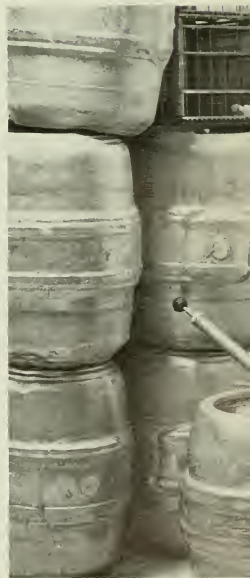

The zombies sleep by day. But under the shadows of night, they awaken and emerge from their concrete tombs with their pitiable wealth. Without warning, they swarm to strategic points throughout the metropolis, from the Pig to the White House, have a steak, then go back to sleep.

TRACK

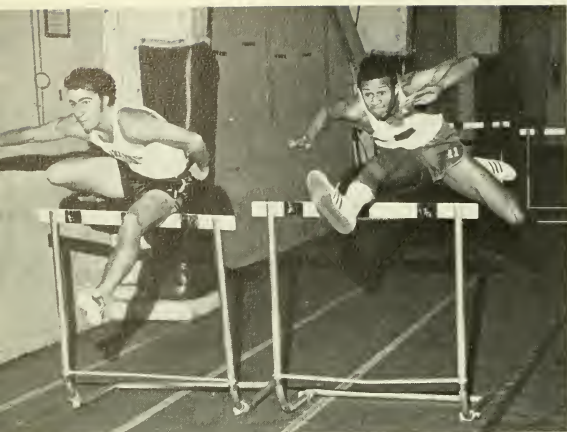

As you will notice, the pictures for Spring Sports do not depict intercollegiate competition. They only show scenes of the various teams practicing for the season. Instead of pictures of the 1971 games, we are showing 1972 players before the 1972 games because we wanted to show members of the 1972 teams, not those of 1971. Like, it's the 1972 book, but the 1972 games won't be played before this goes to press, and, well, it's like getting the February Playboy in January.

Music written and performed by Howie Thomas and Jim Dragoni.

Richard Ginn and Anne Bonner in their leading roles.

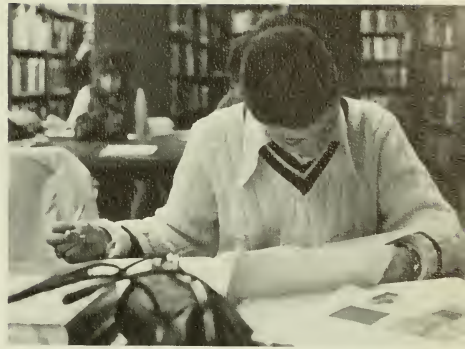

Broadway it wasn't, but damn close to it. Haze was a very professional, original production written and directed by Joe Murphy. The acting was excellent, the music contemporary, and the message thought-provoking. It sounds like such an endeavor would be of interest to every student on campus, and it was. But due to foreseen lack of interest, Haze played to sitting-room-only crowds three times. It's a shame. But there will be other plays, and other chances to support them.

Lois Arp, Anne Bonner, Marilyn Casal, Robin Smiler, and Mark Glickman—cast members of Haze.

Sitting through sessions of Practicum and placement orientation, and writing seminar papers, help to prepare students for an exciting, money-making career. The best methods and courses provide the future jobholders with practical, theoretical experience.

Host Gentry sits to watch over a piece of the action.

CASINO NITE

When our class came to "State," Casino Night was a worn-out annual carney. With an ounce of male chauvenism and a few pounds off Les Gentry, it became one of the annual highlights on campus.

Put a hundred on it, cutie pie, ya can't lose.

Bunny Bonner wins another hand. You're supposed to lose, Bunny!

Hit me, man, this is even better than Wildwood.

JUNIOR PROM

The long-awaited night finally came. All of us nothings were suddenly somethings. But, like a pumpkin patch on Halloween, something was missing . . . like a feeling of being ourselves. I think we were having a ball.

Queen Patty Rice and her court. (No relation to the King and his court.)

SKI WEEK-END

As the Junior Class last year we went to the mountains. It was snowing, which made it all worthwhile. There were big hills for good skiers and little hills for bad skiers. There was sledding. There was ice skating. There was beer. There was nobody on the slopes on Sunday.

The Newman Club had a Beef and Beer house-warming. There was 700 pounds of roast beef. There was six kegs of beer. There was nobody in church on Sunday.

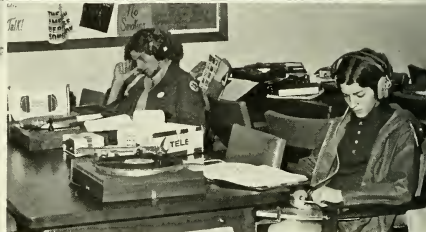

BEEF AND BEER

What will become of it. Who can now guess.
And us, what is the fate of us
We belong to the same world
Most of us turned on to the same world
It is in peace now.
Pacem America, Pacem omnis
Do we live with thermo-
nuclear flowers?
We look into life's hallways,
Now do we see?
Now you know how nice it feels
To be free
We belong to the same world
Turned on to the same world
Have you heard
The ball of colors
The innocence of children
Is ours
Rat Tap Tap
It goes so fast
Rat Tap Tap
Honeysuckle flowers drop
Like bricks and stones in walls

It is in peace now.
Pacem America, Pacem omnis
Do we live with thermo-
nuclear flowers?
We look into life's hallways,
Now do we see?
Now you know how nice it feels
To be free
We belong to the same world
Turned on to the same world
Have you heard
The ball of colors
The innocence of children
Is ours
Rat Tap Tap
It goes so fast
Rat Tap Tap
Honeysuckle flowers drop
Like bricks and stones in walls

And God said,
 Let the earth
 bring forth grass...

Genesis 1:11

FOUR YEARS OF THE “PIG”

Maybe you were just a regular, or maybe you just stopped in for coffee once in awhile, but the Pig meant something to everybody.

Let's go back to some 1968 Solid Gold. Remember, when as a freshman, you felt illicit the first time you entered the billiard room? and you wrote home to Mommy about all the strange people that sat in that restaurant? Do you remember the first time you called it the Pig in front of your naive roommate and felt like Joe College?

It's 1969 and you're a swinging Sophomore, and you've decided to make the Pig your second home after a year of Slater. It's also the temporary field headquarters for Kay and Kompany. The big thing is sitting around and watching the kids who let their hair grow during the summer, and engaging in deep, philosophical discussions on war, politics, the Eagles, his long hair and her chest.

Now it's 1970, man, and like you're into everything that's goin' down, dig? And you're a cool, groovin' Junior, hip to the college scene. You begin talking to freaks over a cup of coffee, and find that you think the same way as they do. You impress people by pretending to study while the bass part from Creedence is vibrating your table onto High Street. And you feel gutsy enough to sit down with a professor and find out that he's really human, as you talk about war, politics, the Eagles, his long hair, and her chest.

Senior year, now. You have to walk around a barbed wire fence to get to the Pig. Groups and individuals are appearing every week, and it's even advertised on WMMR. The coffee is terrible but you still drink it and don't know why. And you'll never play pinball again except on Homecoming Weekend.

Conclusion

This is not merely the conclusion of a yearbook, it is the final word on four years of our lives. Four years. Some of us didn't make it, but most of us did. You can at least be proud of that.

Ideas and ideals have been buried under the rubble of two buildings; changes have swayed the grass on their graves. But this small segment of our existences has become a large part of Westchestria, and looking back at our microcosm, a rather nebulous feeling inhabits the mind. Emotions, actions, interpretations, observations and introspections . . . what is the common denominator that makes it all comprehensible? Or is the reality of college life all done with mirrors? These are difficult questions, questions that will become the Great Unanswerables of future philosophers.

This book has gone in a different direction than any book of the past: strenuous colors, left-handed compliments and outright criticisms. It is a rather unholy, unconventional book that has already made a few ex-friends. Regrets? We have none, except that some people were offended by the truth. And that truth is us, the Class of 1972, our thoughts, ideals, motives, and actions, as individuals and as a group. This book has tried to represent the sum of the total educational process we have undergone in this mini-society. Obtaining a degree here at West Chester is secondary to how we worked for it and earned it. A pinch of in-depth academia, and twice our weight in maturity. As people we have learned what we can be independent of high school guidance counselors and parents telling us to turn off the television and study. Think back to when you were in high school. Do you understand what this book is saying now? Four years of higher education have either opened or shut our eyes; energy sometimes lost in apathy, and apathy often lost to energy. It is indisputable that each one of us has changed inwardly as much as the college has changed outwardly.

The time has gone by quickly. To some, four years are not enough to approach a self-realization, to arrive at personal values and standards, to know who we are. But this home has been a laboratory, a place to experiment, take notes and observe. Sifting through Serpentine cultures, we have all tried to isolate the essence that makes us individuals. Whether each of us met with success or failure, or degrees of both, the experiment has been carried out. Now we must make the results known.

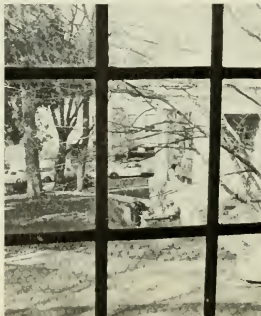

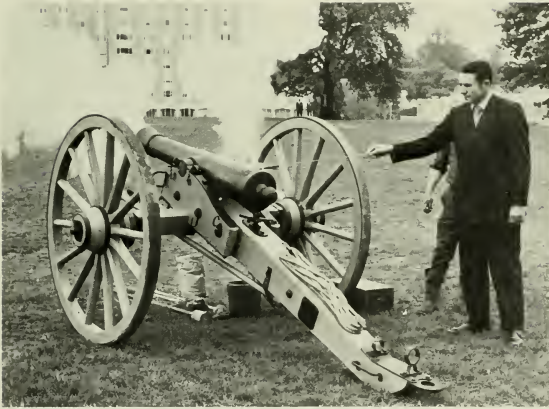

SPECIAL THANKS

The 1972 Serpentine Staff would like to gratefully acknowledge:

Mr. John Ursprung, Miss Gloria Zoski, and the people who make up Cooke Publishing Company, Mr. Marvin Merin and the people at Merin Studios, Art Wilkinson, our staff photographer, Dennis Farringer, Jon Zaines, John Morgan, Tom Lenhart, and Mark Mock for added photography, Russell Sturzebecker for use of his marvelous book, William Landrum for his welcome assistance in absentia, Louis Weislogel for his financial wizardry, Bernard Taupin, Elton John, Donovan, Peter Townshend, Ian Anderson, John Lennon, Paul McCartney for their lyrics. Special thanks to the Moody Blues (John Lodge, Mike Pinder, Justin Hayward, Ray Thomas, Graeme Edge) for the title and the lyrics, and Chicago for that final question. And, lest we forget, our heartfelt thanks go to the General State Authority for providing the most photogenic destruction which gave us the foundation for our book.

*Tuesday afternoon
I'm just beginning to see
Now I'm on my way
It doesn't matter to me
Chasing the clouds away*

*Something calls to me
The trees are drawing me near
I've got to find out why
The gentle voices I hear
Explain it all with a sigh*

What is there to explain? What gentle voices have we heard? We have received no explanation here, only questions. Now we graduate into a so-called world full of answers. Some of us will be alone, rambling in solitude, while others will be caught up in non-entity, sharing each others empty pages.

The 1972 Serpentine has tried to record feelings as well as deeds, that in looking back upon this segment of maturation, we may remember that ephemeral moment when we saw what we were, and yet departing, we disguised our Serpentine selves to look like members of the New Stone Age. That future is gone. We must build on our past.

*Everyday just gets a little shorter don't you think?
Take a look around you and you'll see just what I mean.*

*The more I look around I find
The more I have to fear
Where do we go
Where do we go
Where do we go from here?*

SCHMIDT

*Cold hearted orb that rules the night,
Removes the colours from our sight.
Red is grey and yellow white,
But we decide which is right,
And which is an illusion .*
